- Additional Learning Needs and Education Tribunal (Wales) Act 2018
- Violence Against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence (Wales) Act 2015
- Independent School Standards (Wales) Regulations 2024
- Newport City Council Inclusion, Attendance & Behaviour Pathways

Greenfields School: Culture – Ethos – Mission

Our School

Greenfields School is an independent special school for young people with Social, Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) difficulties for both boys and girls aged 9-16 years old. The school is registered for up to 30 learners and consists of 2 small primary style transition classes to provide a nurturing environment to develop and progress throughout the learning journey and the pupils transition to Secondary education; as well as providing English, Maths, Science, Expressive Arts, Humanities, PSE and PE lessons for our older pupils. We are a school that is able to support pupil and teenagers who suffer with trauma or mental health problems and whose troubled behaviour acts as a barrier to learning. Located in Newport we therefore benefit from some amazing community spaces where we enhance our curriculum with equestrian skills, free running, farm skills, pottery painting, outdoor learning, swimming lessons, boxing and fitness classes. All the staff at Greenfields School are committed to creating a setting which not only focuses on academic success, but also provides our learners opportunities to develop their social, communication and independent skills.

Mission Statement

Preparing learners for the future by providing a sustainable outstanding educational experience where all learners realise pursue and achieve their full potential, enabling them to thrive as adults.

The school's approach:

At Greenfields School, we are committed to creating a therapeutic, trauma-informed environment where every pupil feels safe, ready, and respected. Our approach is rooted in positive relationships, restorative practice, and a belief that behavior is a form of communication. All team members are expected to model and reinforce our core values in every interaction.

Value	What it Means	Examples
Safe	Keeping ourselves and others free from harm	Staying in class, using equipment properly, following team member instructions
Ready	Being prepared to learn and engage	Arriving on time, having the right equipment, listening actively
Respectful	Treating others, ourselves, and our environment with kindness and care	Using kind words, following rules, looking after property

Our approach is trauma-informed and rooted in the Welsh Government Whole-School Approach to Mental Health and Wellbeing. We promote emotionally safe relationships, co-regulation and restorative approaches consistent with rights-respecting practice (UNCRC Articles 12, 19, 28 and 29).

Staff at Greenfields School believe that in order to enable effective engagement to learn and progress, positive actions and choices in all aspects of school life are desirable. It seeks to create an inclusive, supportive, learning environment in the school by:

- promoting positive behaviours and self-regulation;
- building self-esteem, teaching and supporting skills of self-regulation;
- developing positive relationships based on mutual respect;
- ensuring equality, inclusion and fairness of treatment for all;
- encouraging consistency of response to both positive and negative behaviour;
- promoting early intervention and de-escalation;
- providing a safe environment; free from disruption, violence, bullying and any form of harassment;
- promoting a culture and ethos of shared responsibility towards the whole community;
- promoting equality of opportunity for all;
- eliminating unlawful discrimination and harassment on the grounds of age, disability, gender, gender reassignment, language, race, religion or belief, or sexual orientation;
- encouraging a positive relationship with parents and carers to develop a shared approach which involves them in the implementation of the school's policy and associated procedures;
- promoting a culture of praise, encouragement and empathic response in which all young people can achieve and believe;
- limiting fixed term exclusions where possible and using other sanctions, as appropriate;
- being 'firm on the behaviour but gentle on the pupil' by tackling the behaviours and not the individual

Focus of Attendance and Engagement in lessons

With the school's core values at the heart of what we do at Greenfields, we aim to reward the good choices made by pupils but also to allow pupils the opportunities to reflect on their choices

Behaviour and Attitude to learning (Termly Monitoring)

In every lesson, pupils can accumulate up to ten points for the three main focus points, Safe, Ready, Respectful. Lessons are split up into three fifteen-minute blocks where pupils can earn a point for each. A bonus point can then be awarded at the end of the lesson if warranted. In the case of undesirable behaviour, negative points can be awarded instead of the positive. Whether positive or negative points are awarded, a total of ten points need to be allocated to each pupil, each lesson (table 1). At the end of the week, points are totally up and turned into a percentage of positive points versus the negative points. This is then turned into a monetary amount which is an earning of £1 each day. The maximum amount a pupil can earn during a week is £5. Example, 100% positive points over a 5 day school week means the pupil has earned £5 towards their end of term total.

	Safe	Ready	Respectful	Bonus	Totals
First 1/3	1	1	1	0	3
Second 1/3	1	1	1	0	3
Third 1/3	-1	-1	-1	0	-3

The points are accumulated and recorded using a system called Class charts which breaks down which subject areas pupils are thriving in and what negative or positive award are issued to a pupil.

On Friday, payslips are generated for each pupil based on the amount of positive points they have gained each day.

Attendance and engagement (Weekly Monitoring)

Lesson attendance is recorded for each pupil, each day with levels of attendance to lessons (table 2) resulting in a two-tiered reward system (table 3) during golden time on Friday afternoons. Each timetables slot is recorded in green or red highlight to illustrate attendance or non-attendance.

< 60% attendance in lessons	No reward
60 – 80% attendance in lessons	Tier 1 reward
>80% attendance in lessons	Tier 2 reward

Table 3. Reward system for attendance to lessons.

An example of the rewards system includes:

Tier 1 reward – agreed reward

Tier 2 reward – extended reward

Monitoring systems are informed by Newport City Council's Attendance and Engagement Framework, ensuring early intervention, relational support and multi-agency communication where patterns of disengagement appear.

Daily Monitoring

Behaviour is monitored through the school day and recorded using Classcharts. Here pupils, parent/carers and team member can monitor learner success.

The point system is part of the wider Greenfields Curriculum which prioritises emotional regulation, readiness to learn and relational safety. Behaviour tracking is reviewed weekly by SLT and termly through the Self-Evaluation (SEF).

Celebrations, Recognition and Sharing Success

Greenfields School places equal importance on celebrating positive behaviour as on addressing concerns. Positive behaviour, effort, attendance, and emotional regulation successes are recorded on ClassCharts as part of our daily tracking system. These celebrations are monitored weekly by class teams and SLT to identify patterns of strengths, pro-social developments, and curriculum engagement. Celebrations are shared with:

- Pupils – through weekly payslips, Golden Time rewards, termly celebration assemblies, and personalised praise.
- Parents/carers – via ClassCharts notifications, phone calls home, termly reports, and celebration postcards.
- Staff teams – through weekly briefing, termly data reviews, and whole-school recognition of class achievements.

This ensures that positive behaviour is not only reinforced in real time but is also communicated consistently to families and embedded within the wider school culture.

Recording Incidents, Escalations and Crisis Events

All significant behaviour incidents, including emotional dysregulation episodes, crisis moments, are recorded on BehaviourWatch / ClassCharts (depending on system used). Records include:

- antecedents or known triggers
- behaviours observed
- staff responses and de-escalation strategies used
- impact on the pupil and others
- restorative actions and follow-up
- any safeguarding concerns

Incidents are reviewed daily by class teams and weekly by SLT to identify patterns, ensure appropriate support, and monitor the effectiveness of interventions. These records form part of wider behaviour monitoring, feed into Individual Support Plans, and are shared with parents/carers where appropriate. This monitoring process supports the Welsh Government's expectation for reduced restrictive practice by ensuring transparency, consistency of response, and early identification of needs.

Managing behaviour

Behaviour Response Steps

At Greenfields School, our Behaviour Response Steps are designed to support pupils in making positive choices, while upholding our core values of being Safe, Ready, and Respectful. These steps provide a therapeutic and consistent framework for team members to respond to a range of behaviours, always with the aim of helping pupils reflect, repair, and re-engage with learning.

Step	Action	Purpose
1	Reasonable Request	Team member makes a clear, calm request linked to Safe, Ready, Respectful
2	Offer to Redirect	Pupil is given a chance to make a better choice
3	PACE Approach	Team member uses Playfulness, Acceptance, Curiosity, Empathy to de-escalate
4	Change of Face	Another team member steps in to support regulation
5	Contact Home	Offer to involve parents/carers for support
6	Reforming Behaviour	Restorative conversation, apology, making amends
7	Escalation	Reflection Day or other consequence depending on seriousness

It is important to note that these steps are not always followed in a strict sequence. Team members may use the steps interchangeably or adapt their approach depending on the needs of the pupil and the context of the situation. The strategies employed are flexible and responsive, ensuring that support is tailored and effective. Exclusion is always considered a last resort, used only when all other avenues have been explored and when it is necessary to maintain the safety and wellbeing of the school community. Greenfields School is committed to the Welsh Government's Reducing Restrictive Practices Framework for Children and Young People (2021), which emphasises relational practice, early intervention and the avoidance of restrictive or punitive approaches. Any form of restrictive physical intervention is used only as a last resort, proportionate, necessary, and to prevent immediate harm. All incidents are recorded, reviewed by SLT, and monitored for patterns, with de-escalation and trauma-informed strategies always prioritised. Our practice focuses on co-regulation, emotional safety, and restorative approaches in line with national expectations in Wales. If behaviour presents a safeguarding concern or risk of harm, escalation will follow the Wales Safeguarding Procedures (2019) and be reported to the Newport Children's Services Duty Team.

Behaviour Matrix: Linking Values, Behaviours & Consequences

At Greenfields School, we understand that behaviour is a form of communication. Our Behaviour Matrix is designed to support pupils in developing self-awareness, emotional regulation, and positive relationships. This therapeutic framework links behaviours to our core values—being Safe, Ready, and Respectful—and outlines restorative and supportive responses. We aim to ensure consistency, fairness, and emotional safety while promoting growth and accountability.

Value Not Met	What It Might Look Like	Supportive Response
Not Safe	Leaving supervised areas, unsafe use of equipment, physical aggression, unsafe travel choices	Immediate safety intervention, restorative conversation, parent/carers involvement, safety plan review, possible temporary separation for regulation
Not Ready	Avoiding tasks, lack of materials, disengagement, lateness	Gentle reminder, check-in with key adult, catch-up opportunity, parent/carers contact, readiness support plan
Not Respectful	Unkind language, damage to property, peer conflict	Restorative meeting, repair and rebuild activity, apology, emotional literacy session
Persistent Disruption	Repeated refusal, interrupting learning, ignoring team members	Change of face, 1:1 regulation support, intervention plan, therapeutic mentoring
Prohibited Items	Use or possession of unsafe items (e.g. vapes, lighters, aerosols)	Calm reminder of expectations, opportunity to hand in voluntarily, safety conversation, reflective conversation parent/carers contact, health and safety education
Uniform / Presentation	Non-compliance with dress code, wearing hoods/caps indoors	Private reminder, offer of appropriate uniform, parent/carers contact
Discriminatory Behaviour	Language or actions that target identity (e.g. racist, sexist, homophobic)	Immediate intervention, SLT involvement, restorative justice process, update to PBS plan, parent/carers meeting
Bringing or using mobile phones during the school day	Bringing or using mobile phones during the school day, refusal to hand in device	Calm reminder of expectations, opportunity to hand in voluntarily, parental contact, reflective conversation about digital safety, support plan if persistent

The Behaviour Matrix is a guide to support consistent, fair, and restorative responses to behaviour that may not align with our core values of being Safe, Ready, and Respectful. It is not a rigid, step-by-step process. Team members are empowered to use their professional judgment to apply strategies that are appropriate to the context, the individual needs of the pupil, and the safeguarding considerations at hand. While the matrix outlines a range of supportive responses, not all strategies will be used in every situation. Decisions are made in line with the principles of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, ensuring that every pupil is treated with dignity, fairness, and respect. This flexible approach allows us to uphold the rights of the child while also maintaining a safe and supportive school environment. It also ensures that, should a strategy not be used, there is a clear rationale grounded in professional practice and the best interests of the pupil and wider community. All responses are grounded in the rights of the child under UNCRC and the principles of dignity, fairness and participation. Learner voice directly influences individual behaviour plans and restorative processes

Support and Intervention

At Greenfields School, we understand that behaviour is a form of communication, often rooted in unmet needs or emotional dysregulation. Guided by the Regulate–Relate–Restore model developed by Dr. Bruce Perry and promoted by Beacon House, our interventions are designed to meet pupils where they are emotionally, build trusting relationships, and support them in restoring their sense of safety, belonging, and purpose.

We recognise that some pupils may need additional, tailored support to meet expectations and thrive. Our approach is proactive, relational, and future-focused, ensuring that every child is supported not only in the moment but also in their journey toward independence and adulthood.

Support may include:

- Individual Support Plans that focus on co-regulation strategies, emotional literacy, and strengths-based goals.
- Therapeutic Mentoring, offering consistent, attuned relationships with trusted team members to foster connection and resilience.
- Wellbeing and Mental Health Support, including access to sensory regulation tools, safe spaces, and trauma-informed therapeutic input.
- Reasonable Adjustments, ensuring equity through personalised approaches that remove barriers to engagement and learning.
- Collaborative Working with Families and External Agencies, ensuring a wraparound approach that values the voice of the child and those who care for them.
- Preparation for independence, adulthood and community participation, pathways, supporting pupils to develop life skills, independence, and emotional regulation that will serve them in education, employment, relationships, and community life.

Reflection Days are a key part of our restorative approach. They provide a structured opportunity for pupils to reflect on their actions, repair relationships, and reset for future success. Reflection Days are designed to support the Regulate–Relate–Restore process: pupils are first supported to regulate their emotions, then engage in relational and restorative conversations with trusted team members, and finally work towards restoring their sense of belonging and readiness to learn. This process not only addresses the immediate behaviour but also builds skills for self-regulation, empathy, and problem-solving—essential for preparation for independence, adulthood and community participation in line with ALN Code (Wales) 2018 expectations. Failure to engage in a Reflection Day results in exclusion equal to the value of the missed opportunity, reinforcing the importance of reflection and restoration as part of our trauma-informed, rights-respecting practice.

All interventions are underpinned by the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), particularly the right to be heard, the right to education, and the right to be kept safe. Our team members act in accordance with professional boundaries and safeguarding responsibilities, ensuring that every decision is made in the best interests of the child.

Reasonable Requests. Greenfields works closely with Newport LA Inclusion Services, CAMHS Wales, Early Intervention and the Gwent Police Schools Liaison Team to ensure relational consistency and wraparound support for learners.

Behaviour as Part of the Greenfields Curriculum

Behaviour expectations form part of the Greenfields Curriculum which emphasise emotional regulation, readiness to learn, relational development and pro-social behaviour are embedded in daily routines, therapeutic activities and thematic learning. This ensures that behaviour is understood as part of wider child development rather than as a standalone compliance measure.

2026-2027

We are currently working on a refined behaviour and reward model that builds on the successes of the existing procedure in this policy. Details of this can be found in appendix 1 – Greenfields school behaviour response. This is currently being trialled with the pupils we have enrolled.

This document will be next reviewed following any changes and by 1st September 2027

500 total points at the end of each week

Each point equates to one pence, which means that pupils can earn £5 per week in “virtual” funds that they can either spend on vouchers or appropriate items purchased by staff and approved by parents / carers. This is presented to the pupils at the end of the week on a “payslip”.

Pupils are always rewarded points in “real time” meaning that they are:

- Used throughout the activity
- Tactile and visual so that pupils can understand
- A tool to reinforce positive behaviour

The slips on the following page are used in this respect.

Following the slips, staff then record the total points for that activity on their daily reward card and this is used to calculate totals.

Daily bonus points are awarded according to the focus of the day / week. This focus is in response to school improvement. Some examples include but are not limited to:

- Engaging in 1-1 reading
- Significant improvement in behaviour
- Contributing towards a community project
- Helping a peer or staff member
- Significant progress
- Consistently good behaviour all day.

Resources for staff to photocopy and use are on the next pages:

Post Incident Negative Behaviour Response

Positive reinforcement of behaviour is the key. However, when multiple incidents of not achieving points for criteria, or for significant incidents, a different response may be required post incident.

The first response in any negative behaviour incident will be a review of the teaching and learning and planning for that child including behaviour management plans, one page profiles, etc. In addition to this, a response does not necessarily mean a sanction. Immediately following the incident, it may be appropriate for the child to complete restoration or reparation in order to further calm and restore the situation. For example, tidying the classroom, repairing something broken if it is safe to do so, catching up on work, restorative conversation between peers, etc.

Following this, management, staff involved, the child and the parent/carer will mutually agree on an appropriate response. If this is not possible for whatever reason, including refusal, management will agree the response. The responses below do not link to a particular behaviour; factors underneath are considered when agreeing the appropriate action. The focus is on restoring the situation and preventing reoccurrence.

When considering the response to behaviour, all involved will discuss the following:

- Reasons (not excuses) as to why the behaviour occurred
- Other contributing factors that particular day
- The overall impact on the:
 - Learning of the pupil others
 - Health and safety of the pupil and others
 - Environment
- Historical incidents of a similar nature; e.g. what was the response last time and is a different response required?
- The potential positive impact on reducing the likelihood of the event occurring again
- Any restorative or reparations completed before the end of the school day

Behaviour Response Grid

Note: This list is not exhaustive and may be amended or added to over time.

Behaviour	Response
Persistent “red” behaviours. Any significant incident which has put the health and life of others at serious risk that could lead to catastrophic injury or death.	Review of school placement meeting needs. Police referral. Safeguarding referral.
Persistent “orange” behaviours. Bullying. Use of banned items in school that cause harm. Discriminatory behaviour. Serious physical assault and violence. Causing significant property damage. Posing a health and safety risk.	Meeting with local authority to review individual development plan (IDP) or education, health and care plan (EHCP). Senior leadership team intervention and potential referral to outside agencies. Potential referral to youth justice team. Urgent review of risk assessment; e.g. immediate measures in place such as not able to use school transport, certain areas of the school or moved to another classroom. Potential fixed-term exclusion.
Persistent “yellow” behaviours. Leaving school site. Climbing on fences or other areas that may be unsafe. Targeting others verbally. Minor property damage. Pushing / shoving others and minor physical violence.	Not awarding reward points. Modification of behaviour management plans and risk assessment. Repairing minor property damage where appropriate. Unable to use certain equipment if deemed unsafe. Restorative conversation with the individual who minor violence was targeted at. Report card for specific behaviour monitored by senior leadership team.
Disruptive behaviour. Poor language / inappropriate comments. Not attending class or alternative learning activities. Leaving the lesson. Lack of engagement in learning. Persistent failure to follow instructions.	Not awarding rewards points. Modification of curriculum / learning activities. Catch up work at home. Report card for specific behaviour monitored by form tutor. Restoration; e.g. apology.
